

Healthx Solution - Patient Center Medical Home (PCMH)

Optimize Patient Outcomes

A patient-centered medical home is an approach to providing comprehensive primary care for people of all ages and medical conditions. It is a way for a physician-led medical practice, chosen by the patient, to integrate health care services for that patient who confronts a complex and confusing health care system

The Healthx PCMH Portal Solution allows you to build a strong foundation upon which the personal physician and their team of healthcare professionals can access and act upon secure meaningful information regarding the patient's health status. Our platform provides clinical decision support data, patient engagement and population management capabilities necessary to optimize patient outcomes. These tools are user-friendly, intuitive, and integrate the latest research in effective electronic health record design.

The Healthx PCMH Portal Solution is designed to provide the knowledge, tools and connectivity necessary to help the Patient Centered Medical Home (PCMH) and Accountable Care Organizations (ACOs) achieve:

- Greater access to care
- Better quality of care
- Greater focus on coordination of care
- Greater focus on prevention
- Early identification and management of health problems.
- Efficient use of teams and systems technology
